

WAR MEETING
TODAY.

Turn out to the Court House THIS (Thursday) EVENING, at 7 o'clock, all good citizens, to consult on the best means to aid the enlistment of soldiers!

We call the special attention of our readers to the card of Prof. Keyes, of the "Toppers Plains Seminary." We are glad to learn that the prospects of the Institution were never more flattering.

Rev. R. Brown will preach in Mid-Idaho at the Brick School House, on Sunday 10th inst., at 10 o'clock A. M. Also, at 7 P. M.

The Universalist Annual Association will be held in Middleport, commencing on Friday, August 15th. Rev. H. R. Nye, of Cincinnati, and Rev. S. Hovey, of Chicago, will be present.

Fill up the Ranks.

Now that it is certain that drafting is to be resorted to in any event, we think it would be well for all who can, to volunteer at once. We think the order to draft is right. The chance falls impartially upon all. The rich and the poor have no room for envy or jealousy. The men are wanted, and must be had. All that is dear and sacred is at stake. Neither life nor property will have any value if the rebellion succeeds. Both should be given cheerfully to save the country with its priceless free institutions for the generations to come. We may all be assured that this call means earnestness. All doubts may be dispelled. The rebellion is to be suppressed, and the interference of foreign powers properly resented. We think this show of energy and the calling into the field six hundred thousand men will make European nations pause awhile, and in that pause the rebellion ought to be crushed out. Fill up the ranks, then, at once. It would be glorious if Meigs County should avoid the draft by supplying her quota with volunteers.

By special request we publish the speech of Douglas. We are told that the Vallandighamers are quoting his old partisan speeches to convince the Douglas Democrats that their great leader was in sympathy with them. Whatever he did and said, while in communion with the party, as controlled by Davis, Floyd, Wig, and the rest, is neither fair nor honest after his rupture with them, and the old stand he took, in the last month or two of his life, to use his name and the influence it carries, to lead his admirers into the ranks of the traitors, from which he had so nobly separated himself. The speech we publish was delivered at Chicago, and is the last he ever made. He wrote one letter afterwards, which we intend to publish next week. It gives his astounding declarations.

We were never an admirer of Douglas. But thousands of patriotic Democrats were, and for their sake we reproduce these, his last, and most loyal sentiments, that they may have the means of repelling the insidious allegations of bad men, who would use his name to promote a rebellion which he had repudiated.

Home Guards.

We are pleased to announce that our citizens are awake to the importance of preparation for defense of our town in case of an emergency. A fine Company of Home Guards has been organized, and have been under drill every evening for the last week. The Company, we believe, numbers about one hundred—well armed—and will soon be in a condition for efficient action in case of need.

Another Company, composed entirely of Germans, is being organized. A supply of arms was furnished them on Tuesday night at the Mayor's Office, and we presume the Company is fully organized by this time. From the well-known military spirit and physical force of the German people, this will be a Company of which all may be proud, and in the sense of security it will give to the community, will be of priceless value. Let these Companies be sustained by the sympathy and aid of every citizen. Should they determine to uniform, which we hope they will, let those who are too old or too feeble to make active members, do their part by their means, to equip those who can give their personal services.

We are pleased to note the tone of true and earnest Unionism which is becoming more and more intense in the loyal papers of Virginia. The last Kanawha Republican, closes an article on the "Volunteer Militia Companies" authorized by Gov. Pierpont, in this significant language:

"The question what is to be done with the neutrals and rebel sympathizers, in our midst, is now to be decided. Are they to remain enough us, to carry information to the enemy, join him when he comes in, or are they to go to Camp Chase, or to Dixie, or to the limb of a tree? The people of Marion have set us an example of what to do with the rebel women—pack them off to their husbands, brothers and sweethearts in Dixie."

Will the very indignant gentleman over the river, who talked of heading a mob to throw the Telegraph in the river, and tar and feather the editor, take note of the above, from a paper published in Charleston, on the same day that our

A Raid into Letart.

On Saturday night last, a band of guerrillas, numbering some twelve or fifteen persons, at about midnight, surrounded the house of our fellow-citizen, Thos. T. Hopkins, Esq., of Letart Township, in this County, in the absence of Mr. Hopkins, and by threatening to burn the house over the family procured admission. While some of the gang stood guard over the frightened women, others ransacked the premises for plunder. They employed about three hours in the search. Mr. H. was supposed to have a large sum of money in his house, which it was, no doubt, the main object of the band to secure. They threatened death in all forms to Mrs. H. if she would not deliver up the supposed treasure. There being none in the house, of course she could not comply with the demand. After tearing up carpets, and searching every nook and corner of the house, the villains left, a little before daylight, taking with them two guns, about $25 in money, which was all they could find, and such other articles as suited their fancy. No clue, so far as we know, has yet been discovered as to the identity of the perpetrators. It would be well for every one to be prepared to give such visitors a warm reception.

Pomeroy Telegraph.

"One of the very best papers in the State is the Pomeroy Telegraph, edited by Hon. T. A. Plants, and published by Mr. A. E. McLaughlin. Its editorials are always marked by ability, sound judgment and a refreshing earnestness; its selections are made with good taste, and in typographical appearance it is always neat and attractive. Altogether it is one of our most highly prized exchanges, and we are gratified to know that it is properly appreciated and sustained by the people of Meigs County."

We clip the above notice from the Chillicothe Gazette, and reproduce it here, not so much for its too flattering estimate of the Telegraph, as for the compliment to the citizens of this county, implied in the glowing lines, and on this we beg leave to say a word or two. We took charge of the Telegraph nearly five years ago, simply to save it from extinction. It then had very few subscribers, and no advertising patronage except that of patent medicine vendors. We believed the citizens of Meigs County were an intelligent, reading community, and that if a paper was published here worthy of patronage, it would be supported. In this faith we have labored hopefully, and have won a success very far beyond our expectations. Without a single effort made by canvassing for subscribers, our list has steadily increased, and is still increasing, notwithstanding the hard times. So has the Advertising and Job-work of the office.

When the shock of hard times caused most of the county papers to diminish the size of their sheets, we enlarged ours, making it one of the largest papers in the State. This addition to the size of the Telegraph gives our subscribers more than twice as much reading matter as it before contained, or is given in most county papers, and this, without any addition to the price. Most of our exchanges thought the experiment must break down the concern. We did not believe it would; and it has not. As the Gazette says, and as we knew it would be, it has been "appreciated and sustained by the people of the County."

More than fifteen hundred of the citizens of little Meigs, and mostly readers of the Telegraph, are in the patriotic army, bravely giving their efforts and their lives to sustain their betrayed and imperiled country. More are rallying to the same glorious standard. There is not a county in the State, in the hearts of whose citizens burns a purer patriotism than in this. None are truer, and few so intelligently true, to the principles of our Government as the people of Meigs. They have no taste for milk and water. If, as the Gazette says, "there is a refreshing earnestness in the Telegraph," we can assure him, that it is got up for an earnest people. And if any of them are not in earnest, it is the mission of the Telegraph to inspire them with that quality. And in this lies, we believe, the secret of its success. We have no opinions, political or otherwise, which are not founded upon a conviction of their correctness. And we never entertained an opinion, therefore, that we needed to conceal, and we never knew how to dilute our real sentiments to suit a supposed expediency. With us, what is right is expedient, although the wrong were championed by the multitude.

True, this course has won for us the appellations of "Radical," "Abolitionist," "Fanatic," "Higher-Law-Advocate," and any number of other epithets. We accept them all as compliments, coming from the source they do, and would not exchange them for a victor's crown. These terms are fast losing their potency on the popular mind, and honest men have pretty much ceased to be swayed from their allegiance to truth and right, because knaves still use them to lure fools into the ranks of traitors. If the Telegraph has had any share, however humble, in producing and sustaining that sentiment of patriotism which makes so overwhelming a majority of the people of the County, without condition, loyal to the Constitution, and to freedom, it has, so far, performed its mission. And it shall be our endeavor to make it still more worthy of the liberal support it has received.

We don't often bore our readers with matters of this kind. But the above flattering notice, coming as it does, from one of the oldest and best conducted papers in the State, but with whose editor we have no personal ac-

Bully for Orange.

We understand there was a good time at Orange on Monday night last, at a war meeting held there. Whittier Major Smith, of this place, was speaking, some speech in the crowd announced his willingness to lead the guerrillas here, as the villains who were shot, did at Newburg. He had hardly uttered the treasonable sentiment, until a blow by some strong-armed Unionist sent the miserable traitor sprawling. For a time, we are told, an intense excitement prevailed. But soon the strong Union sentiment of the meeting found utterance in shouts for the general clearing out of the rebel crew. An immediate "skedaddle" of the rascals was the result. Some got upon their horses and made the quickest time on record. Others "cut graft" on foot. Some took refuge in a cornfield, which was surrounded by the Union men, but the "Bush-whackers" succeeded in dodging their pursuers. A few were knocked down, but limber legs saved the most from personal chastisement, at the hands of the insulted and outraged loyal men of the township. Orange is all right, and is a good deal righter than she was. That is, the mass of her citizens have been stirred up to a more intense feeling than before.

P. S.—Just as we go to press, we learn that Bedford Township followed, on Tuesday night, the patriotic example set her by Orange the night before. Good for Bedford. She is all right.

It is exceedingly unfortunate that, while thousands of Democrats are perishing their lives in the patriotic arms of the Union, and thousands more are nobly sustaining them with their means and sympathies, the organization should have been seized upon by such men as Medary, Vallandigham, Olds and their like, to breed dissension, and embarrass the Government in the prosecution of the war for the suppression of the rebellion.

As a sample of the leading men who now claim to act in the name of the party, we publish on the first page, an article from the Indianapolis Journal of the 25th ult. It is worthy of the serious consideration of all loyal Democrats, and we hope all such will read it. How can loyal citizens act with, and support such men, without giving their influence, however they may regret it, to the cause of the enemy? The trouble is, you can't strike at one of these conspirators, but he will dodge behind, and swear the stroke is aimed at the "Democratic party." How long will honest Democrats permit themselves to be used as a mask, from behind which these "Bush-whackers" and "Moccasin Rangers" can work their batteries at the life of the Government?

DIED.

At the General Hospital of the Army of the Mississippi, July 18th, 1892, MARION PELLIS, of Tyboid Fever.

He was a member of Co. C. (Capt. C. E. Smith) 63d Reg't O. V. I., and son of William and Catherine Pullins, of Chester Township. He was about 23 years of age. He was greatly beloved by his friends, and from all I can learn, was deserving of all the affection bestowed upon him. His parents and numerous friends feel keenly their loss, and the consolation that he did his duty and died in a good cause—the defense of his country.

He was highly esteemed by his officers and fellow-soldiers, as the following extract from a letter written by his Capt. to his parents will show:

"Allow me to express my sympathy and that of every member of my Company, to you and your family in this your bereavement. He possessed a kind heart, was a true soldier, and was beloved and respected by all his associates."
